James J. Davis

James J. Davis, known to most as Jim, was a dear friend and colleague to Kymanox founder, Stephen M. Perry. Jim embraced continual learning through new experiences. He never took short cuts and didn't feel they worked. In order to really know something, he felt you had to experience it, to live it. Jim was constantly seeking out new experiences to broaden his knowledge of the world. It is in this spirit that the scholarship was designed.

Kymanox's James J. Davis Memorial Scholarship for Students Studying Abroad

The Kymanox mission is to facilitate effective and efficient knowledge transfer. James J. Davis taught us that there are few things as effective and efficient in transferring knowledge as experience. The selected scholarship recipient will receive $1,000.00 (USD) for 2010/2011 educational-related expenses. The goal of these funds is to encourage students to study abroad and experience something new to grow their knowledge of the world.

Eligibility Criteria:

- The recipient will be a US citizen or US permanent resident.
- The recipient will be an undergraduate student enrolled in a full academic year or fall, spring or summer semester/quarter study abroad program at an accredited university. Students abroad for less than eight weeks will not be considered. The student's enrollment can begin prior to awarding of scholarship funds, but the program cannot end on or before the scheduled award date.
- Strong preference will be given to students with financial need.
- Preference will be given to students studying in a non-English speaking country.
- Preference will be given to Engineering, Math and Science majors.
- All US students studying abroad through accredited universities, despite program or major, are encouraged to apply!

Application Materials Checklist:
